In joining AECOM you will significantly contribute to the development of high-profile infrastructure projects in Victoria, and others across Australia, be part of a thriving and cohesive team, and provide our clients with innovative and inspiring solutions.

The Role

As the Transport Impact Assessment discipline lead you will:

- Lead and manage the delivery of a variety of brownfield and greenfield transport impact assessments and other similar projects,
- Be responsible for delivering projects to program, budget and quality expectations,
- Manage and train junior team members, and
- Work directly with internal and external clients to meet project expectations, including presenting at governance meetings.

Minimum Requirements

To be successful you will have:

- 10+ years of experience in transport planning or engineering,
- A proven track record of delivering TIAs within a Victorian setting
- A keen interest in training and guiding junior team members in their technical and professional development
- Strong communications skills to establish and maintain internal relationships across AECOM to support our multi-disciplinary approach to delivering work
- A commitment to delivering the best possible outcomes for our clients.

About You

You enjoy working in and leading teams, being accountable for your work, and influencing project performance. You enjoy developing and nurturing relationships within AECOM and across the industry, whether through project work, client initiatives or industry associations.

You are positive, looking at challenges as opportunities to innovate, collaborate and grow. You are a highly motivated individual with excellent communication skills. You care about delivering the right solution, on time, every time.
